

JEWISH RELIEF NEARING GOAL

$1,400 Subscribed Up To Last Night
—Workers Hope To Complete
Quota Before End of Week.

A good start was made yesterday in the drive for the Jewish Relief fund. Fifteen teams started out early in the morning with the accustomed enthusiasm which has characterized previous drives. Only about half of the city teams have reported so far. Most of the work will be completed today. However, a few of the workers will not finish their territory until the last of the week. Miss Davis is pushing the canvass at the Eastern Kentucky State Normal and there is assurance that they will go over the top.

No reports have come in from the country teams as yet but they are at work. Chairman O. Olin Green made a trip to Berea this afternoon to meet with a group of workers here. Berea can always be counted on to do her part, if past events are to be any criterion.

The results of the first day's canvass together with what had been previously subscribed amounts to about $1,400. This is a good start toward Madison county's quota of $3,200. Subscriptions made up to Saturday night are given below; others will follow tomorrow:

SGT. HENRY HOWARD WOUNDED AT FRONT

Released From Base Hospital At Louisville To Visit Parents At Valley View.

Sergeant Henry Howard, brother of Burton Howard, of Valley View, is at home for a few days regaining his strength after being in the hospitals, both in Europe and this country, for several months.

Sergeant Howard is an old army man, having volunteered about ten years ago and has seen quite a bit of active work since entering the service. Shortly after the United States entered the war he was transferred to Company A, 39th Infantry, and was sent across with the fighting Fourth Division. His company saw service at Verdun, St. Mihiel, Soissons and the famous Argonne Forest battles and during the terrific fighting at Verdun he received several wounds from shrapnel, one piece going through both lower limbs, and from which he has been crippled since, and is now considerably lame.

Under careful treatment he is expected to be entirely recovered in a short while, but states that Sherman was more than right and that he got all the action he was looking for.

Sergeant Howard will return to the base hospital at Camp Taylor in a few days, and will receive his discharge from that place.

Normal Defeats Wesleyan

Kentucky Wesleyan College sent their baseball team to Richmond yesterday afternoon to win a baseball game. The Eastern Normal sent them back to Winchester with a different story to tell.

When Wesleyan took the field for practice it looked very much as if they were to be a more formidable opponent than the score indicated. But base ball is an uncertain game.

The game started promptly at 2:30 with Fox and Compton doing the battery work for the local team. The first three to face Lieut. Compton were easily disposed of. It looked too easy. Trooper, first up for the home team, beat out a slow roller to third. Holdcraft sacrificed Trooper to second. Pittman waltz up to the plate, swinging his wicked club. The outfield moved back, but not far enough. George smacked the old pill on the nose and when the right fielder returned the ball to the diamond Pittman was safely camping on third—a triple to his credit. Compton hitting in the clean-up position, shot a sizzling grounder through short scoring Pittman. Compton was out stealing second. McDougle lifted a long fly to center, which the gardener smothered.

Wesleyan was again out one, two, three.

Fox opened the second inning for our boys by beating out a hit to third. Mayse fled out to center. Reed beat out one that went hopping down the third base line, reaching third on the play. Scrivner drove a hot one through the pitcher, scoring Fox and Reed. After Trooper hit safely, Scrivner was out on a close play at third. Here the real fun started. Holdcraft and Pittman hit safely, Compton walked, McDougle double to left cleaning the bases—at this point Wesleyan pulled Williams out of the box and substituted Oldham. When the side was retired six runs had been chalked up for Eastern.

From this time on it was evident that Wesleyan would drink the bitter cup. Our boys played a fast game and deserved a shut-out, but with two men down—the unexpected happened—Reed misjudged a short pop-up to left and the only run Wesleyan secured was scored.

Our boys scored two in the fourth and one in the sixth, making the final score count 11 to 1.

The snappy work of Eastern's infield brought rounds of applause from the spectators all through the game. Trooper at short picked up the hot once with ease. Holdcraft sent the ball from third to first with the speed of a big leaguer. Pittman at second was all over his part of the infield, his splendid effort to get a Texas leaguer over second was the fielding feature. McDougle at first dug them out of the dirt and leaped high into the air to pull them down. He kept the base runners glued to the bag by his quick action after Compton had snapped the ball to him. Compton kept all runners hugging the bags. They dared not

Infirmiry Bazaar Proves Magnificent Success

Even the little yellow and white butterflies of spring were among the guests at the Pattie A. Clay Infirmiry bazaar. They came in by way of the open windows and were seen in both the flower market and bouquets on the lunch tables. The whistles the children blew to attract attention to bou-tonniers which they wished to sell at 10 cents a bunch, were sent to them by Potter & Co., of Cincinnati.

No one found the price too high. The Richmond Greenhouses, Honaker, of Lexington, and Jacob Schultz, of Louisville, gave gorgeous flowers to the flower market. Pink and white roses sold in bunches, while a single bud was also in demand. Corsage bouquets of sweet peas were spoken for before taken from their boxes. Carnations and snap dragons were most popular. Roots and bulbs were bought for the different gardens of Madison county.

The jonquils used to decorate the tables of the luncheon, given to the Jewish War Relief committee, were given over to the flower girls who sold them to anxious buyers. The flowers alone were well worth a trip from Louisville to see. Two auto parties from Louisville and one from Winchester arrived in time to get luncheon.

Although the candy table held Bissinger's, Whitman's, and Holliday's candies, none proved more popular than the delicious sweetmeats made by the women and girls at home. Those who waited until afternoon to buy were disappointed that all the candies were sold.

If the ladies of the hospital board will offer premiums for the food table next year, would the buyers of the different dishes leave them on the table long enough to be seen by those who came to buy but sadly turn away on account of not being able to secure the deliciously cooked food at any price?

Don't fail to be on the lookout Easter morning for the little children in their Easter frocks bought at the bazaar. Nothing could be more beautiful.

The household table made more for the hospital this year than in any of the past years.

The souvenirs were not only from Richmond friends, Kaufman-Straus Company, Louisville, Du Rand, Perry Louisville, Wolf, Wile Company, of Lexington, Miss Caden, of Lexington, also sent gifts.

Everyone sat at the lunch table and therefore it is well known that the food, the service, and every appointment of the table was of the best. One of the guests from Louisville, remarked that Solger, of Louisville, could not make a better chicken salad and that his salad was the best made in the U. S. A.

Mrs. T. J. Coates will send to the hospital one setting of her pure bred White Plymouth Rock eggs for Miss Scott to raise from.

Walsh, the tailor, sent his annual donation; Woolworth & Co., of New York and Richmond, sent again their check for $5; Mayor Evans gave $11.50 for the ton of coal given by Mr. F. H. Gordon to the hospital; the sack of salt bought by Mr. M. B. Arpuckle, for $4, was given to the souvenir table by Mrs. L. R. Blanton. Mrs. Eugene Walker drew the lucky number which gave her the good looking khaki sport skirt.

Miss Bessie Dudley reported a good sale at the Junior Red Cross booth where preserves and jellies were sold.

Especially do the ladies of the Pattie A. Clay Infirmiry Association wish to thank the merchants, both wholesale and retail; the produce companies and the housekeepers for their generous assistance in gifts, labor and courtesy; the churches and Normal School for the use of dishes.

The Daily Register enabled the bazaar committee to reach friends, workers and donors in a way never possible before. The Daily Register carried written invitations for all to come and take part in the pleasures and benefits of the annual bazaar.

The treasurer, Mrs. G. D. Simmons, has issued the following report of the money received from the chairmen of the different departments:

LOOKS LIKE PEACE IS ABOUT HERE

(Internation Situation by A. P.)

Prospects of peace has suddenly become brighter as a result of agreements reached by the Council of Four at Paris, indicating within a short time that the war-worn world will soon return to something like normal conditions.

When allied and German delegates gather at Versailles it will 165 days after the last gun of the great war was fired.

Indications are that the treaty with Germany will be completed shortly, and then in the meantime conflicting claims of Italy and the Jugo-Slavs to territory on the Eastern shore of the Adriatic will be given preferred consideration.

It seems that the agreement on the vexing problem of the Franco-German frontier, but division will be nearly twenty-four billion dollars in indemnity from Germany still to be worked out, but indications are that 85 per cent will go to France and Great Britain, with the remainder to the smaller powers.

Riotous disorders continue in Germany while in India mobs burned buildings and indulged in riots.
